WON'T REVEAL CONTRACT.

But Ways and Means Men May Report Financial Bill.

(Special to The Evening World.)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—The Ways and Means Committee was in secret session to-day with Secretary Carlisle making a lengthy statement to-day.

So fearful are they that the contents of the mysterious bond contract will be made public that they have published a resolution pledging the members of the committee not to reveal what takes place during the session, but the general impression is that the terms of the contract will get to the public to-day.

Bourke Cockran, after the committee had been in session two hours listening to Secretary Carlisle and asking him numerous questions, says that the outlook is very favorable for the reporting of a measure which will relieve the Treasury.

At 12:35 o'clock Secretary Carlisle came out of the committee-room and walked over to the Senate, where he sent in for Senator Allison, who is a member of the Finance Committee.

Mr. Carlisle remained in the room of the Appropriations Committee.

Mr. Springer, who is a member of the committee, and walked with him to the Senate. Mr. Springer is going to complete the bill on the revenue side of the measure, while Mr. Carlisle is going to complete the bill on the expenditure side.

It is learned on reliable authority that Secretary Carlisle's statement did not disclose a single fact of importance not already given in the interview with Assistant Belmont published in "The World" to-day.

And also resolved, that in computing income under said act, the amounts received as dividends upon the stock of any corporation, in case such dividends are also liable to the tax of 2 per cent, upon the dividends, shall not be included in the income of the shareholder, but shall be included in the income of the corporation, at the time of making returns by the corporation or association receiving such dividends.

Be it further resolved, that no taxpayer shall be required to file his annual return except as specifically provided in said act.

Finance Committee Reports Ninth Section of Jones Measure.

It provides for unrestricted but not for free coinage of silver, giving the Government the privilege of the vote by which the report was ordered was 6 to 5.

In the Senate to-day Senator Jones reported the bill adopted by the Finance Committee for the unrestricted coinage of silver. It went to the calendar.

It is said that when told that this bill had been reported for long time by the Ways and Means Committee, remarked: "That settles it against bond legislation."

PACIFIC BILL AGAIN.

Measure to Be Reported to House for Second Time.

(Special to The Evening World.)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—The Pacific Railroad bill has been decided to report the bill back to the House.

Opponents of the measure smile at the suggestion that it can pass.

Chairman Reilly says that as only two sections out of eighteen had been considered it was not fair to take it to the House.

The new propositions of the Pacific Railroad Committee will go on an amendment.

Butler will introduce a substitute bill providing for the foreclosure of the Government bonds and the principal of the Government debt with interest from last July.

BLOW FOR CROKER. M'KINLEY IN ALBANY.

Bill Outing Off His Real Estate Sales Passed by Assembly.

Sulzer Accused of Trying to Defeat It by Personal Appeals.

Republican Opposition to the Measure Creates Some Surprise.

(Special to The Evening World.)

ALBANY, N. Y., Feb. 12.—There was the "blotter sort of a row in the Assembly this afternoon over ex-Boss Croker's right to control the sales of real estate in New York City.

The bill was introduced by Mr. Pavey, and provides that sales of real estate within the city shall be held at the Real Estate Exchange. They are now held at 111 Broadway, where the firm of Croker & Meyer has its headquarters.

The Assembly Committee reported it favorably, but it was vigorously contested by the friends and agents of Croker and the group of auctioneers who have their headquarters at 111 Broadway.

The bill was finally passed to-day after two or three sensational developments.

The first of these was Republican Leader Almsworth's charge that ex-Speaker Sulzer attempted to bribe members of the Assembly to defeat the bill on the ground of personal friendship.

"I do not say there was anything improper in this," said Mr. Almsworth. "I only say that as a fact, Mr. Sulzer, the pressure being brought to bear on this House to defeat the bill."

Democratic Leader Foley defended the action of the ex-Speaker by saying that it was an established custom for ex-Speakers to appeal to their friends in the Legislature on personal grounds concerning their action on certain bills.

Mr. Foley also defended the action of the ex-Speaker by saying that it was an established custom for ex-Speakers to appeal to their friends in the Legislature on personal grounds concerning their action on certain bills.

A vigorous attempt was made to defeat the bill by every artifice known to legislative filibustering, but it got through on a party vote.

The Democrats did not vote upon it at all. Assemblyman Bell, a Republican from the Annexed District, controlled the first sensation by opposing it.

He charged that the bill had been prepared for the purpose of enabling the Finance Committee to place the bill in the hands of the Finance Committee.

Mr. Springer, who is a member of the committee, and walked with him to the Senate. Mr. Springer is going to complete the bill on the revenue side of the measure, while Mr. Carlisle is going to complete the bill on the expenditure side.

It is learned on reliable authority that Secretary Carlisle's statement did not disclose a single fact of importance not already given in the interview with Assistant Belmont published in "The World" to-day.

AGAINST GREATER NEW YORK.

Carload of Brooklynites Call Upon the Senate Committee.

(Special to The Evening World.)

ALBANY, Feb. 12.—A carload of Brooklynites called upon the Senate Committee on Finance to-day to present arguments against the two Greater New York bills which the Senate Committee had arranged to hear at 2 o'clock.

The party from the City of Churches included a picked delegation from the ranks of Loyal Citizens of Brooklyn, which was organized for the purpose of defeating any legislation compelling the consolidation of Brooklyn and New York.

The delegation was headed by Judge Dykman, and included A. A. Low, W. J. O'Connell, and D. C. McKillop.

The Greater New York Commission was also represented.

The hearing attracted a large crowd to the Senate Chamber. The only speaker who took the floor was Senator Sullivan to-day called upon the Police Commissioners of New York to explain why they had not submitted the whole matter to a vote of the people again in the form of a charter.

The arguments in behalf of the bill urged the adoption of the Lexow bill, which provides for the selection of a commission to draft a charter and submit it to the Legislature with the additional approval of the people.

POLICE BILLS AMENDED.

Senator Pound Would Clutch the Bi-Partisan Features.

(Special to The Evening World.)

ALBANY, Feb. 12.—Senator Lexow's police bills were amended some more to-day and the amendments were reported to the Senate by Senator Pound.

Senator Pound's amendments were reported to the Senate by Senator Pound.

The amendments offered to-day came from Senator Pound. They provide that at the expiration of the term of the members of the Board of Police Commissioners to be appointed by Mayor Strong, such Commissioners shall be appointed and elected in the manner provided in the charter of the city.

Two of the four are to be elected by the people directly and the Mayor is empowered to appoint the two candidates receiving the next highest number of votes.

The amendments are intended to elicit the bipartisan features of the bill, by providing for the selection of a commission to draft a charter and submit it to the Legislature with the additional approval of the people.

He Takes His Presidential Boom to Show New York Legislators.

Had Breakfast and a Social Chat with Gov. Morton.

Accepts an Invitation to Speak to the Representatives.

(Special to The Evening World.)

ALBANY, Feb. 12.—Gov. William McKinley, of Ohio, brought his Presidential boom to Albany to-day and uncovered it to the vision of the members of the Empire State Legislature.

The modern Napoleon of politics reached the State capital on a New York Central train just after daybreak to-day, when the mercury was about the zero mark. He was driven to the Executive Mansion, where he breakfasted with His Excellency of New York.

At 10 o'clock the two Governors were driven to the Capitol. The Ohio Governor held an informal reception in the Executive Chamber. The leading Republicans in the Legislature called to pay their respects to the President-elect.

During the reception Gov. McKinley told an interesting story to the effect that he had been invited to speak to the Representatives.

He said he came to attend the Lincoln dinner to be given by the Unconditional Republican Club to-night; also to take the banquet of the Rochester Chamber of Commerce to-morrow night. He will remain in Albany to-day and to-morrow, and during his stay will be the guest of Gov. Morton.

He also came to direct the interview into political channels was unsuccessful.

"I do not care to discuss politics at this time," he said.

The Republican members of the Legislature were invited to call on him at his hotel, but he declined to do so.

Only two members of the Legislature called on him at his hotel, but he declined to do so.

A joint committee of both Houses of the Legislature called at the Executive Chamber at 11:30 o'clock and escorted Gov. McKinley upstairs to the floor, where he was received by President Saxton.

Gov. McKinley's speech was as follows: "Mr. Saxton and gentlemen of the Senate: I am most glad to meet you here to-day. It is long since I have seen you. It is long since I have seen you. It is long since I have seen you."
